

Morelli met God the Father and said no to the Godfather.

ROCCO MORELLI
(EVANGELIST)

With the exception of Brother John Barbeau (sp?) who has graduated into the Kingdom of our Heavenly Father, I have never known of anyone, brother or sister in Christ, with such a compelling testimony. I had my personal share of ins and outs with the law, but they seem so very minor and petty when you compare them with what our June Guest speaker was involved with.

At our "March Dinner Meeting" of Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International we heard a snippet of Brother Rocco Morelli's testimony. I was spellbound and realized how simple it is to fall into Satan's trap for our life to live for him and not for God. I sincerely pray you will join us to hear how God can change any persons heart to serve Him and not the world.

Forgetta 'bout It From Mafia to Ministry

A gangster turned into a pastor? Unlike most mob stories that end in tragedy, the dramatic life story of Rocco Morelli is a tale of total triumph.

"I was a Mafia wise guy—rich, powerful, and greedy," Morelli says of his former life in his book Forgetta 'bout It. "I was arrested and imprisoned. But when released from prison, I was a changed man."

La famiglia (the family) ran "Little Chicago," Morelli's hometown of New Kensington, Pennsylvania, nicknamed for its mob connections. According to Morelli, the Mafia bosses on the east coast all had ties to the family in Little Chicago. "The Mafia curse was passed down to me from my great-grandfather. I was doomed from birth to be an heir of the mob."

Morelli became a cop at age 19, but at the same time he nurtured his love for the underworld. "I became a player, eventually messing up my mind with drugs and alcohol. Less than 10 years later, I had the world in the palm of my hands. I was part of the action and the boss gave me the opportunity for membership." That boss told Morelli, "Kill Tony and you're made!" He needed an ironclad alibi. As he was about to do the hit, something happened that changed his plans and his life forever: Morelli met God the Father and said no to the Godfather.

Morelli now speaks his message of a changed life to prisoners, at-risk youth, and the lost around the world.

Prison Statistics

- Three to five million at-risk kids have one or more parents in jail or prison, and they are 6 times more likely to end up in prison themselves.
- The crisis of incarceration can devastate a marriage. Statistically, only 3% of marriages survive the impact of the imprisonment of a mate.
- The child of an incarcerated parent is 8 times more likely to go to prison.

Our prison ministry focuses on:

- Evangelism
- Discipleship
- Mentoring
- Christian 12-step programs for overcoming addictions
- In-Prison Marriage Seminars
